
Focus of Program

Safe Haven utilizes the following service models to assist Veterans in reaching their goals:

Housing First refers to an approach that prioritizes providing permanent housing to people experiencing homelessness as a platform from which they can pursue personal goals to improve their quality of life. This approach is guided by the belief helping people establish safety and security, via a place to live, are priority foundations for attending to other needs such as employment, financial stability, medical and mental health services. Additionally, Housing First is based on the belief that client choice is valuable in housing selection is likely to make a client more successful in remaining housed and improving their life.

Harm Reduction refers to policies and practices that aim to minimize the negative health, social, and legal impacts associated with substance use, policies and laws. Harm reduction focuses on working with people without judgement, coercion, discrimination, or requiring that they stop using substances or alcohol as a precondition of support while helping them to make positive changes through a range of effective, evidence-based approaches and have been demonstrated to have a positive impact on individual and community health.

About the Program

The goal of Safe Haven is to rapidly stabilize Veterans' medical, mental health, substance use and other psychosocial problems in order to place them in permanent or other appropriate transitional housing within six months of entry.

To accomplish this Veterans are placed in a safe, supportive, residential setting where they have access to professional services to address their complex needs through on-site supportive case management and counseling services. The target population for this program is chronically homeless Veterans with substance use disorders, mental health struggles and/or other serious and complex needs.

Based on these factors, Veterans who are considered high priority for this program have been determined to be highly vulnerable due to serious mental health, substance use, or other psychosocial conditions or stressors that makes them an unlikely candidate for more traditional supportive services.

The low-threshold environment and the supportive services of Safe Haven are intended to help these individuals succeed in their goals
